

Fixed Recoverable Costs Extension training day

Friday, 8 November

Marriott Marble Arch Hotel, London

APIL is extremely excited to confirm a brand new training event for personal injury lawyers covering the Fixed Recoverable Costs extension and its implications to the profession.

The packed day is split across two half day programmes, geared at bringing delegates right up-to-date with the changes.

Morning programme - Open to both APIL members and non-members Principles, Impact and Future of Fixed Recoverable Costs

The morning conference will give a high level view which will help practitioners to understand the reason behind the extension to fixed recoverable costs.

This half day session will provide an understanding, from distinguished speakers and opinion formers, on the thinking behind fixed costs and the impact - for both claimants and defendants - of the extension of fixed recoverable costs. We will also look at 'The future' with a particular emphasis on the next steps for a digital justice system; the role of dispute resolution and the forthcoming recommendations from the Civil Justice Council on pre-action protocols.

We are honoured to welcome The Right Honourable Lord Justice Birss to the Marriott Marble Arch Hotel, London to give the keynote address at this exclusive in-person event.

Afternoon - APIL members only: Practicalities, Tactics and Know-How for Working in a Fixed Costs Environment

APIL members are also invited to book the afternoon training session, which is a practical session - run by Brett Dixon and John McQuater - offering vital tips and tactics on how to deal with the new regime.

This afternoon session will look at more of the detail for practitioners on a practical and tactical level, considering the general to the specific: What the extension of fixed recoverable costs means day-to-day for practitioners and how to future-proof practices.
