

Data protection for PI lawyers: how the lockdown helps us to understand it

Tuesday, 28 April
12:00 - 13:00

Data protection is a slippery subject at the best of times, and it can be difficult to grasp some of the abstract and dry concepts in the GDPR.

The changes forced on us by Covid 19 provide a new perspective through which we can make sense of it. The crisis has thrown up some concrete issues which enable us to get a better handle on the underlying principles.

Using the lens of the lockdown, this webinar will look at:

- Trust: did your clients agree to you processing their personal data remotely?
- Security: have you read Zoom's terms of business?
- How the GDPR works: data issues inside and outside the office
- Regulatory action in the current climate
- The threats on Data Protection that lie ahead
- Other practical tips for PI practitioners

Technical requirements

You will need access to the internet on your PC, plus audio speakers. If you do not have access to speakers you will be able to receive audio via a phone line. Further information on how to log on to the webinar will be sent via email a week before the event.

Francis Dingwall is a practising solicitor and partner in Legal Risk LLP. He has over 30 years' experience in acting for professional service firms. He advises and represents law firms and individuals facing investigation by the SRA. His practice also includes advice on technical legal and compliance issues faced by law firms, from setting up in practice to closing down.

He advises numerous Personal Injury practices on a variety of issues, including costs arrangements (in particular CFAs) and funding, transfer of retainers, and LASPO issues.

He is recognised as a leading professional indemnity insurance lawyer and regularly represents law firms and individual solicitors in policy coverage disputes with insurers.

Legal Risk LLP is a solicitors' practice, ranked in The Times Best Law Firms 2019, Chambers and Partners, and Legal 500. The firm provides specialist legal advice on the law relating to professional indemnity insurance and on professional regulation. Clients include a large number of leading UK and US law firms and insurers.
