You will need access to the internet on your PC, plus audio speakers. If you do not have access to speakers you will be able to receive audio via a phone line. Further information on how to log on to the webinar will be sent via email a week before the event.

Colin is a consultant with Irwin Mitchell. He has been practicing personal injury work for over 40 years and led the personal injury department at Irwin Mitchell's London office for over 20 years.

Colin has been active in APIL since its formation. He is a life member, a senior fellow and holds APIL accreditation for spinal injuries and brain injuries and has authority to assess others applying for these accreditations. He is a past president of APIL. Colin was re-elected back on to the APIL executive committee in 2013.

Colin was made an honorary research fellow at the School of Law and the University of Lancaster in 2007 for his "outstanding contribution to personal injury law and the pursuits of justice".

Colin is very committed to ensuring that injured people maximised recovery from their injuries by using rehabilitation process wherever possible. His work in this areas acknowledged by being appointed vice president of the Royal College of Occupational Therapists.

Colin is regarded in Chambers and Legal 500 directories as a leading personal injury lawyer. He has received many plaudits in these directories including "stands head and shoulders above everyone else in the country for catastrophic injury – there is no one else who has got anything like his experience or ability".
